spaired. We signed the armistice in spite of the certainty of crushing the German Armies, to avoid killing one more man and because it gave us everything necessary to a French victory." WILSON'S NEW CONFERENCES WITH THE PREMIERS.

President Wilson went to the residence of Premier Lloyd George yesterday, meeting there A. J. Baifour, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Fremier Clemenceau, Stephen Pichen, French Foreign Minister; and Diaz. The discussion was chiefly on the question of mandatories for countries in Asiatic Turkey, including Mesopotamia, Palestine, Syria and Armenia.

The presence of British, French and Italian armies in these regions was one of the factors considered as having a bearing on mandatories. Some sentiment in favor of the United States becoming a mandatory for Armenia was manifested, but no decisions were reached as to this or other mandatory proposals.
